
To whom it may concern

Luke Allisstone undertook a work experience placement with Spark Emerging Technologies, within our tech team.

As Head of Strategy for Spark, it was my responsibility to assign tasks to Luke during his time with us, whilst his work was directly overseen by our Head of Technology Graham Allen.

Our experience of Luke was that he was extremely hard working and diligent, with a thirst to understand the finer details of the technologies involved in the projects assigned to him. He is eloquent with a clear capability to verbalise technical deliveries in plain English.

During his tenure with us at Spark, Luke worked on a number of Unity based projects for both iOS and Android delivery. These were for a number of high profile, world renowned brands, and supported the sales function of Spark in presenting new concepts in augmented reality to existing and potential clients.

Supported by and learning from the experienced development team at Spark, Luke delivered a number of admirable AR experiences, which were all well received by those they were presented to.

Luke became a very well liked member of the team, always enthusiastic with the challenges set to him and never shy in asking for assistance when required. We wish Luke all the best in his future career.

If you have any further questions about our professional experience of Luke we would be more than happy to answer them.

Kind Regards

Dan Betts
Head of Strategy
Spark Emerging Technologies Limited
